Joe's Business Successes:

From a young age, Joe has exhibited the skills of a born leader. He was elected president of the Arlington, Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce just one year after joining the organization and was chosen as one of the top chapter presidents in the nation and received the prestigious Charles Kulp, Jr. Memorial Award. He then purchased a freight logistics franchise in 1990 and has expanded it from a start up business to a multi-million dollar, multi-franchise organization. Those same leadership skills enable Joe to consult with other entrepreneurs and managers, resulting in increased productivity and profitability in their own businesses.

Joe's Core Values:

Joe's core values stem from a loving home environment and tremendous family support, both before and after his life-altering injury. Joe enjoys tackling the challenges presented to him daily. He adheres faithfully to the motto symbolized by their corporation's name Dabar: "Doing Admirable Business Achieves Rewards". Joe's ability to face and conquer adversity in his own life fuels his desire to motivate others to look beyond their problems and find solutions instead. Everyone must choose how they will handle challenges; Joe reminds us that we should choose to live a life that matters; to bypass the ordinary and be extraordinary.
